

Creating
Places that
Care for People

Can you help us to build on the great success we've achieved together?

As the construction industry's charity, our focus is on helping homeless and hospice charities with their buildings. We do this by channelling the professional expertise, building materials and financial donations from the industry to help vulnerable men, women and children who are homeless or have life limiting illnesses.

However, we can only continue with this work with the support of companies and individuals within the construction industry.
